

UNDECLARED MAJORS

ACCEPT THE CHALLENGE™

Why choose to be an undeclared major at Geneva?

Geneva College encourages students to engage in focused academic exploration, programs and support services. Services for students who have not declared a major can begin the moment they explore Geneva College as a potential college choice.

What opportunities for exploration are offered at Geneva?

- Career resource center
- Professional organizations
- On- and off-campus work
- Study abroad programs
- Job shadowing
- Electives
- Independent study
- Alumni networking
- Volunteering
- Campus organizations
- Internships
- Off-campus study

Our Faculty & Staff

Joy Doyle, Career Development Center Director; B.S.B.A. & MBA, Geneva College

Kerry McMahon, Associate Professor of Chemistry; B.S., Geneva College; Ph.D., University of Connecticut

Esther L. Meek, Associate Professor of Philosophy; B.A., Cedarville University; M.A., Western Kentucky University; Ph.D., Temple University

Wendy Shidemantle, Associate Professor of Spanish; B.A. & M.A., West Virginia University; M.A., Cleveland State University

What programs and services are available for undeclared majors at Geneva?

Upon enrollment, more focused advising and support services are available. Undeclared students will meet with specific advisors for intentional academic advising. Advisors seek to engage undeclared students in exploration courses compatible with their interests. This advising process is often available during preview weekends, campus visits and orientation week.

Our Learning and Transition course for first-year students also addresses issues related to adjusting and transitioning into college life. Students are grouped according to major. Undeclared students are intentionally placed with specific faculty advisors that serve undeclared students. This L & T course offers a calling and vocation curriculum helping students assess their gifts, talents and abilities while connecting them with academic and vocational options. Identity formation, vocation exploration & decision-making will be stressed throughout the freshmen year in this program.

The Career Development Center also offers many programs and support services to help students in their exploration. Some of the services include: personalized career counseling, extensive career assessments, occupational information, internships, job search assistance, and graduate school preparation. Programs are offered throughout the year focusing on helping students to explore, be equipped, and follow their vocational calling and life.

Now dig deeper...

...by visiting www.geneva.edu to read current student stories, meet the faculty, schedule your campus visit and apply for admission.